The image shows a software interface for production order management. The top window displays a list of production orders with columns for status, product code, product name, specifications, quantity, and material code. A red arrow points to a search icon, and a blue button labeled '导出' (Export) is visible. A yellow arrow points from the '导出' button to an Excel spreadsheet window. The Excel window shows the data from the system, with columns for internal order number, production order status, product code, product name, specifications, quantity, and material code.
