The image shows a web application interface for production order management. The top section contains search filters for order type, status, and product. Below this is a table of production orders with columns for order status, product code, product name, specifications, quantity, and material code. A red arrow points to a search icon, and a blue button labeled '导出' (Export) is visible. A yellow arrow points from the table to an Excel spreadsheet below.

The Excel spreadsheet displays the following data:
